

Web Development assignment

Assignment 2

In this assignment, you are required to apply your knowledge of connecting a database to your program. Read the scenario below and then respond to the problem statement described.

Problem Statement

Assume that you have to create such an application for maintaining a database of book titles and their costs.

Write the code to create the required database and add data programmatically by using the Insert query.

Books table should have the title, author, and price as fields.